KOHLER Expands Marine Generator Territory for Highly-Regarded Distributor

Boatswain's Locker now covers commercial and pleasure craft markets throughout Southwestern U.S.

KOHLER, Wis. – August 2018 – KOHLER has expanded its marine generator sales and service territory for Boatswain's Locker, a respected wholesale supplier of engines, generators and related equipment in the commercial and pleasure craft segments. Boatswain's Locker is now the exclusive distributor for KOHLER marine generators in Arizona, New Mexico, and Nevada in addition to its previous representation in California, Hawaii, and Mexico. KOHLER initiated the territory expansion to bolster its dealer network in the southwestern United States and provide an enhanced level of service to its many customers throughout the region.

"We've worked with Boatswain's Locker in California, Hawaii and Mexico for years – they're the real deal," said Patrick Kline, regional manager for KOHLER marine generators. "Boatswain's has advanced knowledge of our products and excellent relationships within the marine industry. This is an ideal combination that will benefit those who turn to KOHLER marine generators for quiet, dependable power on the water throughout the southwestern U.S. and beyond."

Boatswain's Locker, based in Costa Mesa, California, has been a marine industry specialist since 1939. The company represents some of the most respected brands in the category and takes pride in providing excellent service and technical support to both commercial and pleasure craft customers.
