

Recall Notice

V-Gard® Arc Flash Visors

September 21, 2015

Dear Valued Head, Eye, & Face Protection Customer:

MSA recently determined that due to a quality issue, V-Gard Arc Flash Visors manufactured by our visor supplier in 2012 and 2013 may not comply with the ANSI high velocity impact performance requirement. Affected visors were shipped from MSA from March 2012 through August 2015. MSA is recalling these visors and replacing them free of charge.

Identifying Affected Visors:

The affected MSA part numbers are as follows:

- 10118480 V-Gard Standard Arc Flash Visor with Chin Protector
- 10118696 V-Gard Cap with Standard Arc Flash Visor & Chin Protector
- 10115858 V-Gard Arc Flash Visor (included with the above)
- 10115847 V-Gard Extended Arc Flash Visor

Affected visors may be identified by checking the visor label for the visor part number and the date of manufacture (see visor label photo below).

PN 10115858 or PN 10115847

Date of Manufacture 03/2012 through 12/2013

If the visor is PN 10115858 or PN 10115847 and manufactured between March 2012 and December 2013, the visor is affected and must be removed from service and replaced. All other visor models and manufacturing dates are not affected.
