

APPLICATION NOTE

O₂ in Grain Fermentation

CO₂ is one of the signs of fermentation in grain silos and affects oxygen levels in the air. Continuous sampling of the air and subsequent oxygen measurement using TS4000H-O₂ gas detectors permits detection of O₂ reductions.

The system for continuous sampling includes dust filters, a volumetric membrane pump and an O₂ monitor.

