

3M™ Red Dot™ Pre-wired Monitoring Electrodes

Wired for Reliability

An option for reducing HAIs

Our 3M™ Red Dot™ Pre-wired Monitoring Electrodes, available in adult, neonatal and infant sizes, are designed with both clinician convenience and patient comfort in mind. As a single-use disposable product, they can potentially reduce the risk of Healthcare Associated Infections (HAIs) associated with cross-contamination caused by dirty or insufficiently cleaned reusable leadwires.

Traveling between departments is no longer a disconnect

Used in conjunction with the YokeMate LWS® cable and adapter system, one set of Red Dot™ Pre-wired Monitoring Electrodes can travel with your patients between departments throughout their hospital stay. No matter what ECG monitors are being used, the YokeMate LWS® system requires adapters only 10% of the time – much less than other systems.

Contact 3M for help in choosing appropriate cables and adapters to complement the monitors used in your facility.
