

Solventum Final Review Services

- Casework review to identify the need for queries, additional coding or coding that can be removed
- Performance tracking tools to demonstrate return on investment and guide ongoing improvements
- Clinical documentation integrity (CDI) staff education and training to help prevent future revenue leakage

The challenge: Revenue leakage and inaccurate documentation

Inaccuracies in documentation and coding can cause healthcare organizations to unknowingly leave revenue on the table, creating missed opportunities that can significantly impact the bottom line and delay the revenue cycle process. Although organizations may have processes in place to avoid inaccuracies, issues can often be missed before final billing.

The solution: Enter Solventum

Solventum provides a turnkey solution that delivers high quality documentation and coding integrity for specified diagnostic related group (DRG)-based payers. Through acute care auditor resources, we manage the final review function, capturing clinical documentation specificity to enhance severity of illness (SOI) and risk of mortality (ROM) profiles, including accurate Medicare severity (MS)-DRG and all patient refined (APR)-DRG assignments.

Our comprehensive Solventum Final Review Services include a detailed chart audit – conducted by our experts and technology – to identify documentation and coding inaccuracies. These inaccuracies are then corrected, which can help enhance revenue, provide better quality and improve documentation practices.

To ensure an organization is set up for quality, revenue and documentation success, our services use data analytics to track and measure improvements along the way. But we don't stop there. We provide education and training to equip coding, CDI and quality teams with the ability to address issues at the documentation stage and develop preventative strategies to combat future revenue leakage.
