

StreamOne®

More than just a marketplace

Today's cloud market is quickly growing in both complexity and scope, making success more difficult than ever to achieve alone. To simplify and accelerate your technology-driven journey, the TD SYNnex Microsoft team is dedicated to helping partners streamline both their Microsoft Infrastructure-as-a-Service (IaaS) and Software-as-a-Service (SaaS) cloud business internationally with StreamOne®.

StreamOne® is a global, multi-tenant platform empowering Microsoft partners to streamline and scale their IaaS and SaaS cloud operations across 80+ countries, 22 currencies and 16 languages. It enables seamless acquisition, integration, management and billing of solutions with features like consolidated invoices, real-time usage data and automated quoting.

The StreamOne® SecOps Solution offers a unified view of customer security posture and personalized configurations. Through Marketplace Syndication, partners can add Azure Marketplace products under a single platform, accelerating speed to market. Robust API integrations support billing, commerce and lifecycle management via PSA Connectors. Fully customizable White Label Storefronts deliver a branded, self-service experience for partners and end users.

"The StreamOne® exports for billing on the monthly basis now form a key process internally of how we bill our customers. The data is always right, then we can bill our customers straight away off the back of that data. It really means that we're billing now as soon as we can. We're getting that cash into the business earlier, and it's reducing across the payment terms our cash negative flow because we've got that customer invoice data, and we can push that out as soon as possible."
